Copyright License

The licensor grants you a non-exclusive, royalty-free, worldwide, non-sublicensable, non-transferable license to use, copy, distribute, make available, and prepare derivative works of the software, in each case subject to the limitations and conditions below.

Limitations and Conditions

You may use the software for your internal business purposes.

You may also use the software for a period of 30 days after the date you first use the software, to provide professional services to others, including implementation, operating, configuring, testing, security analysis, and providing advisory services including upstream and downstream dependency specific to the software.

If you modify the software, and provide the software to others, (a) you must make your modified software publicly available in source code form free of charge under this license; and (b) you must add your modified software to the list of published plugins at <https://docs.logverz.io/docs/Extentions via GitHub pull request>. The software as a whole must remain under this license, but your changes must be made freely available under the MIT, BSD or Apache 2.0 license, or the Creative Commons Zero public domain dedication. This obligation applies to source code only. Modified local configuration files like .yaml, .json and parameter files are not required to be shared publicly.

You may not alter, remove, or obscure any licensing, copyright, or other notices of the licensor in the software. Any use of the licensor's trademarks is subject to applicable law.

Patents

If the licensor provides you with a notice of your violation, and you cease all violation of this license no later than 30 days after you receive that notice, your licenses will be reinstated retroactively. However, if you violate these terms after such reinstatement, any additional violation of these terms will cause your licenses to terminate automatically and permanently.

No Liability

As far as the law allows, the software comes as is, without any warranty or condition, and the licensor will not be liable to you for any damages arising out of these terms or the use or nature of the software, under any kind of legal claim.
